

Stephanie Mareen Biography

Stephanie Mareen is a classically trained German Actress, Director and Producer residing in New York City. She graduated from The Juilliard School with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Drama in 2017.

During her time at Juilliard she adapted, produced, designed and directed a production of 'Woyzeck' involving 9 Actors, 5 Dancers and 11 Musicians in an immersive theatrical experience for which she was awarded two stipends from the Alan D. Marks Center for Career Services and Entrepreneurship.

Stephanie has since starred in numerous theater productions and short films, one of which received the Best Experimental Film Award at the Montreal Film Festival. She also starred as Lydia next to Jenny Slate and Zack Galifianakis in 'The Sunlit Night' which premiered at Sundance Film Festival.

Recently, her short film 'Inner Selves' won Best Short Film at: Berlin Independent Film Festival, WorldFest-Houston International Film Festival, Hollywood Gold Awards as well as Honorable Mentions at the New York Movie Awards and was an Official Finalist at Milan Gold Awards amongst many others. She also uses her fluency in German to coach numerous actors for Broadway and Netflix productions.

As a producer, Stephanie has worked as a Production Assistant and Artistic Administrator at Èlan Artists, planning, producing and executing a number of grand-scale Event Productions.

During some time in Germany, she she was the assistant to the Unit Manager at Red Seven Entertainment producing 5 Live Audience Studio TV Productions.

Stephanie is currently the Special Projects Producer at The Peace Studio and responsible for the 'Conversations That #OfferPeace' Series as well as the Creative Peacebuilders Program.

In 2020, Stephanie received her ACE Group Fitness Instructor Certification and in 2021 Stephanie completed her 200 Hour Yoga Teacher Training with East + West.